

High Living Cost 'Major Election Issue'—Mitchell

Administration's Stand On Tax Is Rapped

CHICAGO (INS)—Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, rapped the Republican administration Sunday for its stand on taxes and cited the high cost of living as a major issue in the 1954 elections.

Mitchell, speaking in Park Forest, a Chicago suburb, at a campaign rally for Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), said:

"The tax reform bill has now been passed, and very few of you will find any relief in it unless a substantial share of your income comes from dividends."

"I think the Republicans are going to find that their great political blunder of the year was in not accepting the Democratic amendment which would have spread tax relief to everybody—and in so doing carry out their campaign promise."

Higher Brackets

Mitchell charged that the tax measure brought relief only to the higher income brackets, and added:

"Prosperity never trickled down from the top under an Andy Mellon tax bill—and it won't under a George Humphrey tax bill, either."

"As for the cost of living, I need only remind you that Friday's papers announced the cost of living reached another all-time high."

Mitchell urged the re-election of Douglas whom he termed "number one among all 96 senators in ability and service" in a recent poll of Washington correspondents.

Joe Probes Near End, Beginning

... Censure Pressed

WASHINGTON (INS)—One Senate committee investigating Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy drove Sunday toward closing the books on its inquiry and another pressed toward getting its probe under way.

Aug. 30—a week from Monday—is the deadline set by both groups.

Several members of the special seven-man subcommittee which conducted the Army-McCarthy hearings remained in Washington to work on individual statements of their views.

Any of the seven Senators who wish to do so may submit such reports, sealed, to Senate officers by 5 p.m. on Aug. 30.

Although the door was left open for informal conferences among the committeemen, no other "normal meetings of the group are scheduled and indications are that there will be a wide divergence of views on exactly what the marathon hearings proved.

In Dark

The committee-members from both parties indicated that they were in the dark as to the plans of the others. Several of the senators are out of Washington.

Meanwhile, a six-member committee headed by Sen. Arthur W. Watkins (R-Utah) is pushing forward with plans to start hearings Aug. 30 on charges lodged against McCarthy by colleagues who want the Senate to censure the Wisconsin Republican.

Counsel for the Watkins group has agreed to provide McCarthy's lawyer, Edward B. Williams, by Tuesday with a list of "specifications" about which the case will revolve.

GOP Chief Hall Brands Attack 'Disgraceful'

WASHINGTON (INS)—GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall branded as "disgraceful" Sunday the recent attack on President Eisenhower by chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee.

Hall referred to Mitchell's Chicago speech in which he questioned whether the President's close friendship for golf-hero Bobby Jones had anything to do with the Dixon-Yates power contract.

The GOP leader recalled that both he and Mitchell had pledged themselves to use ethical tactics and "fair play" in the coming congressional campaigns.

He said he intended to live up to his pledge. He urged Mitchell to "take a new reading" on his conscience and suit his actions to his previous words.

Contract Ordered

In his Chicago speech, Mitchell pointed out that Jones has a cottage next to the President's at the Augusta, Ga., golf course. Jones is a director of one of the companies involved in the Dixon-Yates contract to build a plant to supply power to the Atomic Energy Commission. The President ordered the contract signed.

Several leading Democrats rejected the intimation that the President's friendship for Jones had anything to do with the matter.

Meanwhile, bubbles are rising in the political pot and all signs are that the final 10 weeks of the congressional campaigns will be one of the major slugfests of the century. The entire House and one-third of the Senate will be elected Nov. 2.

The Republican National Committee announced that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will take a hand in shaping strategy at the "workshop meeting" of the committee Aug. 30 to Sept. 1.

Other veterans to participate will be Sen. Everett Dirksen, Ill., chairman of the National Republican Senatorial Committee and Rep. Richard Simpson, Pa., chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee.

House Democratic minority leader Sam Rayburn, Tex., made public an extension of remarks for the Congressional Record in which he accused the Eisenhower administration of bungling in foreign policy, and of working for "big business" at home.

Rayburn declared the word that would best describe the administration is "inept." He said it has "not won a battle on the foreign diplomatic front" and has pulled a "squeeze play" on the little fellow.

Check Checked

DECATUR, Ill. (P-A)—A check issued more than 15 years ago for $105 was found in the street a half block from the funeral home of J. J. Moran and Sons to which it was issued. It was issued by Macon County and bore an endorsement, but no mark showing it had been cashed. The mystery was cleared up when it was found that the check was in a truck of old papers hauled from the County Building. It had been returned March 16, 1938, nine days after it had been issued, cashed.

Convenience, Comfort, Color Keynote New Dorms

Comfortable furnishings are a feature of the rooms in the new men's dorms at the University of Nebraska. Each of the two occupants will have his own bed, desk and study chair. (Pictured at left) The furniture is all solid maple. The room's appearance will be enhanced when plaid bedspreads and colored draperies are added. Each of the rooms has a large window facing on the court of the Quadrangle or toward the street. Plenty of space for personal belongings is included. Each occupant will have his own closet with sliding blond wood doors. (Pictured at right). The two men will share the built-in dresser and mirror. Deep shelves for storage, closed also with sliding doors, are found above the dresser and closets. The door opens into the hall. (Star Photos)

Huge New NU Men's Halls Have All The Rooms Rented

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Contracts have now been signed for all rooms in the new men's dormitories at the University of Nebraska.

Including rooms reserved in the three older buildings, 720 contracts have now been signed for accommodations in the Selleck Quadrangle. Total capacity of the quadrangle is 918.

And requests for contracts and signed contracts are pouring in every day, Don Carlyon, dorm business manager said.

The $2 million project is nearly completed. The men will move into the halls Sept. 12 and the first meal will be served Sept. 13, Van Westover, assistant to the dean of student affairs in charge of men's housing, reported.

Attractively decorated rooms are one of the features of the new buildings. Each two-man room has a single bed, desk and lamp, and closet for each occupant. The men will share a built-in dresser.

The rooms have been painted one of five colors—green, blue, toast, cream and coral—in contrast with the blond woodwork. Draperies and bedspread are furnished in colors harmonizing with the walls. All furniture is of solid maple.

For the first time, food service will be provided for men students. The cafeteria, which will seat about 450, will be open for every meal except Sunday night supper. A professional dietitian will be in charge. The athletic training table will occupy a special section of the dining room.

One Woman

Only one woman will live in the dorms. She will be the resident manager's wife. (The manager has not yet been selected.) They will be provided with a completely furnished and equipped apartment in the main building.

The main building, which faces U Street on 15th, includes the entrance hall, offices, dining area and kitchen. The snack bar, which will supply short-order and fountain service, is found in the basement.

The dorms also have a large television room, two fully-equipped laundry rooms at opposite ends of the quadrangle, four ping-pong rooms, a pool room and two card rooms.

Graduate students will be housed in Seaton Hall, one of the older dorms. The accommodations for 78 men are strictly reserved for students doing graduate work.

In addition, 16 graduate students and professional undergraduates have been selected to serve as dorm counselors. They will live in the undergraduate halls and enforce quiet hours and assist students in solving their problems.

The hall will be governed by a dorm council. Each of the nine dormitory areas will select one representative to the council. The council will plan activities, intramural programs and serve as a political body.

Quiet hours, during which noise must be subdued to allow studying and sleeping, will be enforced. However, the men will be free to come and go at any hour without restrictions.

The rental fee for each student per semester is $520. This includes board and room and all social and athletic activities.

Jewelry, Perfume In Burglar's Loot

A fancy Dan burglar slipped into a residential apartment house taking a pearl choker, matching earrings and four bottles of perfume from the Herbert Streng apartment at 544 So. 17th.

The burglar dropped his gentleman's composure long enough to also steal $2 in dimes, $2 in nickels and 75 cents in change.

Police estimated the total loss at $30. Entrance was apparently gained, police said, by the use of Streng's keys which had been placed in the mail box.

Schmidt-Wittmack Denounced For His Flight From West

BERLIN (INS) — A member of the West German Parliament who deserted to the Communists last week was labeled a "traitor" Sunday by members of his own party as authorities checked reports he was an unsuspected Red spy.

The Hamburg local of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party held a special Sunday session and expelled Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack who represented the port city in the Bundestag, or lower house of the Bonn Parliament.

Schmidt-Wittmack's angry townspeople charged that his flight to Communist East Germany with his wife and daughter was inspired "by the will to betray." They declared that the government lift his parliamentary immunity and put security officers on the case.

The latter, along with all Western intelligence services, were already investigating Schmidt-Wittmack's flight to see if it was linked to the desertion to the Reds last July 20 of Dr. Otto John, former director of West German political intelligence.

No Statement
Except for confirming Saturday night's Communist claim that Schmidt-Wittmack and his family had gone East, the Bonn government issued no statement.

Allied sources said that for the past three weeks, since John's defection, rumors were current that another important West German would desert. Once Schmidt-Wittmack went over to the Reds reports circulated that he might have been a Red agent planted in the nation's leading party.

One report said he was "captured by the Russians during World War II" and joined the Red-established "committee for free Germany" while in a prison camp.

If this were true it would mean Schmidt-Wittmack had valuable contacts among the East German politicians. The puppet Christian Democratic Union of East Germany announced Sunday they would hold a convention at Weimar on Sept. 21-25.

Another Victory
Although Bonn deputies insisted Schmidt-Wittmack was not an important member of the Bundestag, his defection was regarded as another propaganda victory for the Reds. There was little source in the fact that, over the last four years, 15 members of the East

German Parliament have fled to the West for asylum.

Schmidt-Wittmack was a prosperous Hamburg coal dealer who maintained a residence in both Hamburg and Bonn.

There was still some doubt about how he disappeared. Most reports said he crossed from West Berlin to the East sector, following John's route.

But there was speculation that he entered the Soviet zone from Helmstedt in West Germany and while driving toward Berlin on the 110-mile Autobahn, turned off and sought asylum with the Communists.

Reimann in East
BERLIN (INS) — The Soviet zone's news agency ADN said Sunday Max Reimann, chairman of West Germany's Communist party who is charged with high treason against the Bonn regime, now is in East Germany.

ADN said Reimann attended a track and field meet in Leipzig. It did not say whether he planned to remain in the Soviet zone.

West German authorities at Karlsruhe announced the treason charge against Reimann Saturday but gave no details.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

While airplanes have progressed in stunning leaps from baling wire to jet over the past years, I find that we passengers have progressed not a bit.

We are still telling the same tired jokes to the stewardess. We still approach the airplane with a dubious eye, having no faith in aerodynamics or air foil wings to lift us into the sky.

I did a small check on this the other day, flying from San Francisco to Los Angeles. The result is that I think we are overdue for some new material.

"Shall I hang up your coat, sir?" she said. The two stewardesses on United Air's flight 676 were attractive young ladies in French blue uniforms. Stewardesses seem incredibly efficient to me. They bustle down the aisle. They take names of the passengers. They pass out gum and serve a plane load of passengers.

I let her take my coat. I wasn't anxious to part with my coat. But I am afraid to argue with these airborne efficiency experts.

After a while I asked one of them — a Miss Jeanne Arnot of Seattle — what new lines passengers were using these days.

She said they were not using any new lines.

I had been told by a stewardess once that she gets ready to scream when accosted by a bright-eyed passenger with:

"How's the coffee situation?" I asked Miss Arnot if the coffee situation was still being plugged by the riders of the sky.

"I should say so," she said. "And I'll tell you another one. You ask people at lunch 'What will you have—coffee, tea or milk?' So the man says: 'I'll take a martini.'"

I gather that we passengers accompany this remark with sky-winks and hearty laughter. For it is a clever riposte.

What we do not know is the stewardess hears this a dozen times a trip. She smiles. But brother, she wants to bounce the tray on your head.

Miss Arnot's partner said there was something else that drove stewardesses off their rockers.

"When you say 'Coffee, tea or milk?', they say, 'Yes.'"

This is not a witty remark. It is simply a bit of bemusement on the part of the gentleman who is being served. Possibly because he is watching to see that the wings are on firmly I know that is why I am slightly vague in the air.

I gather that pilots have their problems too. Everytime they change engine speeds or whatever they do, they must make an announcement of same. Else the passenger alights convinced that mighty mechanical problems were afoot up in the front office. And he has had a narrow call.

This makes wonderful dinner table conversation. But it is very bad for the airline business.

I am able to report that the flight went along nicely. The sky was deep blue and the Pacific lying under the wing was laced with whitecaps.

Lunch was served while the pilot spoke to us on the pipe at intervals in soothing terms.

"Santa Barbara is now under our left wing," said the disconnected voice. "We will be approaching the most dangerous part of our trip in half an hour—your ride home from the airport. Please drive safely."

"Coffee, tea or milk?" said Miss Arnot.

"I really don't know," I said miserably. "Would you mind choosing for me?"

She chose milk. For a while I thought she was going to tuck a napkin under my chin too.

And the only reason I bring this all up is so that you won't be embarrassed next time you board a plane. And possibly will have some fresh laughs and witty sayings for the ladies who must smile through gritted teeth.

The coffee situation is OK. No need to ask. You can take the word of a thousand stewardesses. They answer it every day.

Children's Social
Conflicts Studied

EAST LANSING, Mich. (INS) — Two Michigan State College psychologists are trying to find out what happens in the minds of children who don't get their way.

Dr. Harold H. Anderson and his wife, Dr. Gladys L. Anderson, are studying social conflicts in children on a world basis. They have just returned from Europe, and have completed the testing of 7,750 children in six countries.

It will take the Andersons two years to complete their data and analyze and interpret what happens to the thoughts of children after conflict. The findings will be put under four headings: hostility and aggression, ambiguous or indecisive conclusions, submissions, and creative problem-solving.

To parents and psychologists this will mean additional information about children in regards to anxiety, escape from reality, lying, cheating, deception, punishment and fair play.

The tests, which the Andersons gave to seventh graders in Sweden, Germany, Norway and England, consisted of incomplete stories to be completed by the children. The tests have been also given in the U.S. and Mexico.

Children's Social
Conflicts Studied

EAST LANSING, Mich. (INS) — Two Michigan State College psychologists are trying to find out what happens in the minds of children who don't get their way.

Dr. Harold H. Anderson and his wife, Dr. Gladys L. Anderson, are studying social conflicts in children on a world basis. They have just returned from Europe, and have completed the testing of 7,750 children in six countries.

It will take the Andersons two years to complete their data and analyze and interpret what happens to the thoughts of children after conflict. The findings will be put under four headings: hostility and aggression, ambiguous or indecisive conclusions, submissions, and creative problem-solving.

To parents and psychologists this will mean additional information about children in regards to anxiety, escape from reality, lying, cheating, deception, punishment and fair play.

The tests, which the Andersons gave to seventh graders in Sweden, Germany, Norway and England, consisted of incomplete stories to be completed by the children. The tests have been also given in the U.S. and Mexico.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerly said in a statement issued at the President's vacation headquarters:

"The United States will continue to assist the Vietnamese government, headed by Prime Minister Ngo Dinh Diem, in their humanitarian endeavor to bring the Vietnamese to free Vietnam."

"It is noteworthy that although Vietnamese from Tonkin are clam-oring to leave the area, soon to be under Communist rule, no Vietnam adherents from free Vietnam have clamored to be transported north to settle in that area under the government of Ho Chi Minh."

Orders for the expanded refugee operation went out to Adm. Felix Stump, the Pacific commander in chief, after discussion at the cabinet and national security council meetings last week.

The President had planned to spend a leisurely Sunday at the home of the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, but changed his mind and summoned four aids to the speech-writing session.

Vietnam U.S. Aid Expands

Ike's Address To Nation Readied

DENVER (INS) — President Eisenhower put in a Sunday session with his speech writers at the Summer White House in Denver for the major address he will deliver Monday summing up the record of Congress.

The "vacationing" chief executive, who arrived in Denver Saturday, checked in at his Lowry Field office at 10:45 a.m. to work on his half hour radio-television speech scheduled for Monday at 6 p.m. MST (8 p.m. CST).

At the same time, the Summer White House announced that U.S. Naval ships will expand the evacuation operation of Indochinese refugees from northern Vietnam to 100,000.

Several thousand refugees moving out of the Communist sector of Vietnam have already been transported southward by American vessels, including transport ships and commercial freighters.

To Use LSTs
The expanded program will use mainly World War II LSTs in evacuating the refugees to free Vietnam. The French Air Force is presently air-lifting approximately 3,400 refugees a day from Hanoi and Haphong to the Saigon area. It is estimated at least 200,000 civilian refugees must be moved before Sept. 10.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerly said in a statement issued at the President's vacation headquarters:

"The United States will continue to assist the Vietnamese government, headed by Prime Minister Ngo Dinh Diem, in their humanitarian endeavor to bring the Vietnamese to free Vietnam."

"It is noteworthy that although Vietnamese from Tonkin are clam-

High Living Cost 'Major Election Issue'—Mitchell

Administration's Stand On Tax Is Rapped

CHICAGO (INS)—Stephen A. Mitchell, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, rapped the Republican administration Sunday for its stand on taxes and cited the high cost of living as a major issue in the 1954 elections.

Mitchell, speaking in Park Forest, a Chicago suburb, at a campaign rally for Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), said:

"The tax reform bill has now been passed, and very few of you will find any relief in it unless a substantial share of your income comes from dividends."

"I think the Republicans are going to find that their great political blunder of the year was in not accepting the Democratic amendment which would have spread tax relief to everybody—and in so doing carry out their campaign promise."

Higher Brackets

Mitchell charged that the tax measure brought relief only to the higher income brackets, and added:

"Prosperity never trickled down from the top under an Andy Mellon tax bill—and it won't under a George Humphrey tax bill, either. As for the cost of living, I need only remind you that Friday's papers announced the cost of living reached another all-time high."

Mitchell urged the re-election of Douglas whom he termed "number one among all 96 senators in ability and service" in a recent poll of Washington correspondents.

Joe Probes Near End, Beginning

... Censure Pressed

WASHINGTON (INS)—One Senate committee investigating Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy drove Sunday toward closing the books on its inquiry and another pressed toward getting its probe under way.

Aug. 30—a week from Monday—is the deadline set by both groups. Several members of the special seven-man subcommittee which conducted the Army-McCarthy hearings remained in Washington to work on individual statements of their views.

Any of the seven Senators who wish to do so may submit such reports, sealed, to Senate officers by 5 p.m. on Aug. 30.

Although the door was left open for informal conferences among the committeemen, no other formal meetings of the group are scheduled and indications are that there will be a wide divergence of views on exactly what the marathon hearings proved.

In Dark
The committee-members from both parties indicated that they were in the dark as to the plans of the others. Several of the senators are out of Washington.

Meanwhile, a six-member committee headed by Sen. Arthur W. Watkins (R-Utah) is pushing forward with plans to start hearings Aug. 30 on charges lodged against McCarthy by colleagues who want the Senate to censure the Wisconsin Republican.

Counsel for the Watkins group has agreed to provide McCarthy's lawyer, Edward B. Williams, by Tuesday with a list of "specifications" about which the case will revolve.

GOP Chief Hall Brands Attack 'Disgraceful'

WASHINGTON (INS)—GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall branded as "disgraceful" Sunday the recent attack on President Eisenhower by chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee.

Hall referred to Mitchell's Chicago speech in which he questioned whether the President's close friendship for golf-hero Bobby Jones had anything to do with the Dixon-Yates power contract.

The GOP leader recalled that both he and Mitchell had pledged themselves to use ethical tactics and "fair play" in the coming congressional campaigns.

He said he intended to live up to his pledge. He urged Mitchell to "take a new reading" on his conscience and suit his actions to his previous words.

Contract Ordered

In his Chicago speech, Mitchell pointed out that Jones has a cottage next to the President's at the Augusta, Ga., golf course. Jones is a director of one of the companies involved in the Dixon-Yates contract to build a plant to supply power to the Atomic Energy Commission. The President ordered the contract signed.

Several leading Democrats rejected the intimation that the President's friendship for Jones had anything to do with the matter.

Meanwhile, bubbles are rising in the political pot and all signs are that the final 10 weeks of the congressional campaigns will be one of the major slugfests of the century. The entire House and one-third of the Senate will be elected Nov. 2.

The Republican National Committee announced that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will take a hand in shaping strategy at the "workshop meeting" of the committee Aug. 30 to Sept. 1.

Other veterans to participate will be Sen. Everett Dirksen, Ill., chairman of the National Republican Senatorial Committee and Rep. Richard Simpson, Pa., chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee.

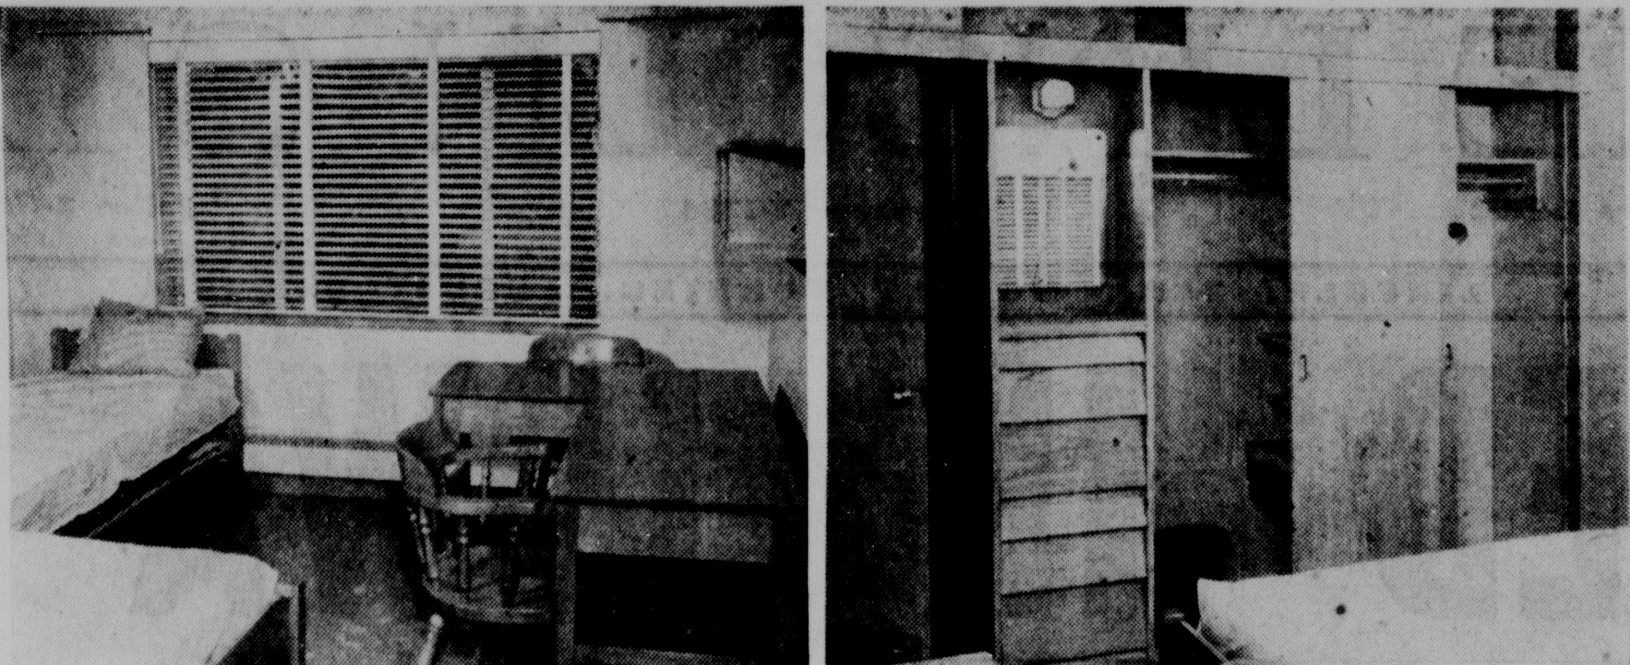

House Democratic minority leader Sam Rayburn, Tex., made public an extension of remarks for the Congressional Record in which he accused the Eisenhower administration of bungling in foreign policy, and of working for "big business" at home.

Rayburn declared the word that would best describe the administration is "inept." He said it has "not won a battle on the foreign diplomatic front" and has pulled a "squeeze play" on the little fellow.

Check Checked

DECATUR, Ill. (INS)—A check issued more than 15 years ago for $105 was found in the street a half block from the funeral home of J. J. Moran and Sons to which it was issued. It was issued by Macon County and bore an endorsement, but no mark showing it had been cashed.

The mystery was cleared up when it was found that the check was in a truck of old papers hauled from the County Building. It had been returned March 16, 1938, nine days after it had been issued, cashed.

The furniture is all solid maple. The room's appearance will be enhanced when plaid bedspreads and colored draperies are added. Each of the rooms has a large window facing on the Police Report Knifing Ended Party, 'Affair'

An affair with another man's wife during a two-day drinking party, police said, culminated in the butcher knife stabbing of a 51-year-old Lincoln man.

The man was reported in "fair condition" at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after suffering a knife gash from the mouth to the temple and a smaller cut on his arms.

A 52-year-old Lincoln laborer was booked on an open charge by police in connection with the stabbing of the man.

Police found the wounded man in a ditch by the railroad tracks at 3rd and G. He was bleeding badly, police said, as he had not been treated since suffering the knife gash three hours hence.

Both men told police that they had been drinking along with the wounded man's wife at the home of the man held by police.

The man booked by police admitted doing the slashing but told police it was in self defense.

Man 'Fair' After Injuries In Crash Which Killed Two

Dwaine E. Jensen, 26, of Omaha, husband of one of the two women who died as a result of a two-car collision early Saturday morning at 12th and Cornhusker, was reported in "fair condition" at St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The Jensens' two daughters, Pamela Sue, 2, and Deborah Ann, 3, were reported in "good condition" at the same hospital.

Dwaine Jensen suffered shock, nose and elbow fractures and possible internal injuries. He had been reported in critical condition.

The Jensen car was on the way to Minden when the car collided head-on with one driven by a Lincolnite, Mrs. Evelyn Duff, 21, of 6637 Burlington, who died almost instantly.

Huge New NU Men's Halls Have All The Rooms Rented

By SALLY ADAMS
Star Staff Writer

Contracts have now been signed for all rooms in the new men's dormitories at the University of Nebraska.

Including rooms reserved in the three older buildings, 720 contracts have now been signed for accommodations in the Selleck Quadrangle. Total capacity of the quadrangle is 918.

And requests for contracts and signed contracts are pouring in every day, Don Carlyon, dorm business manager said.

The $2 million project is nearly completed. The men will move into the halls Sept. 12 and the first meal will be served Sept. 13, Van Westover, assistant to the dean of student affairs in charge of men's housing, reported.

Attractive

Attractively decorated rooms are one of the features of the new buildings. Each two-man room has a single bed, desk and lamp, and closet for each occupant. The men will share a built-in dresser.

The rooms have been painted one of five colors—green, blue, toast, cream and coral—in contrast with the blond woodwork. Draperies and bedspread are furnished in colors harmonizing with the walls. All furniture is of solid maple.

For the first time, food service will be provided for men students. The cafeteria, which will seat about 450, will be open for every meal except Sunday night supper. A professional dietitian will be in charge. The athletic training table will occupy a special section of the dining room.

One Woman

Only one woman will live in the dorms. She will be the resident manager's wife. (The manager has not yet been selected.) They will be provided with a completely furnished and equipped apartment in the main building.

The main building, which faces U Street on 15th, includes the entrance hall, offices, dining area and kitchen. The snack bar, which will supply short-order and fountain service, is found in the basement.

The dorms also have a large television room, two fully-equipped laundry rooms at opposite ends of the quadrangle, four ping-pong rooms, a pool room and two card rooms.

Graduate students will be housed in Seaton Hall, one of the older dorms. The accommodations for 78 men are strictly reserved for students doing graduate work.

In addition, 16 graduate students and professional undergraduates have been selected to serve as dorm counselors. They will live in the undergraduate halls and enforce quiet hours and assist students in solving their problems.

The hall will be governed by a dorm council. Each of the nine dormitory areas will select one representative to the council. The council will plan activities, intramural programs and serve as a political body.

Quiet hours, during which noise must be subdued to allow studying and sleeping, will be enforced. However, the men will be free to come and go at any hour without restrictions.

The rental fee for each student per semester is $520. This includes board and room and all social and athletic activities.

Jewelry, Perfume In Burglar's Loot

A fancy Dan burglar slipped into a residential apartment house taking a pearl choker, matching ear rings and four bottles of perfume from the Herbert Streng apartment at 544 So. 17th.

The burglar dropped his gentleman's composure long enough to also steal $2 in dimes, $2 in nickels and 75 cents in change.

Police estimated the total loss at $30. Entrance was apparently gained, police said, by the use of Streng's keys which had been placed in the mail box.

News Around The Globe

Six Problems

EVANSTON, Ill. (INS)—Some 600 delegates to the World Council of Churches Assembly broke into discussion groups Sunday in an attempt to find solutions to the six most pressing problems of Christianity.

The six problems facing the delegates are church unity, evangelism, social problems such as Communism, international affairs, racial and ethnic tension, and the laity.

3 Road Deaths

GREELEY, Colo. (INS)—Three members of a Greeley area family were killed Sunday when their car smashed into a Union Pacific streamliner traveling 75 miles an hour.

The State Highway Patrol identified the victims as George H. Anderson, Greeley, his 33-year-old wife, Ruth, and 11-year-old daughter, Mary. All three suffered crushed skulls.

Dragnet Boosted

NEW YORK (INS)—Police continued to comb the city in their crack-down on "undesirables" aimed at stemming a rising tide of teen-age crimes capped by expose of a kill-for-thrill gang.

Another savage torture crime spurred officers into a stepped-up weekend dragnet which netted in Manhattan alone 559 criminals, zoot-suiters, young toughs and street corner bums.

Gang War Fear

CHICAGO (INS)—The killing of two high level members of Chicago's underworld within four days stirred apprehension of a new gang war.

Frank Diamond, 61-year-old inmate of the late mob lord, Al Capone, was cut down by gunfire Saturday night. Diamond, who seldom used his family name, Mariotte, had been questioned only two days earlier by police about the ambush slaying of his one-time hoodlum associate, Charles (Cherry Nose) Gioe, 53, Wednesday.

Mass Drowning

TEHRAN (INS)—Iranian welfare officials reported they fear 2,000 Moslem pilgrims drowned Tuesday when raging flood waters submerged the religious shrine of Imam Zadeh Davour at Farahzad, 30 miles northwest of Tehran.

Escaped witnesses said they had fled to the shrine for refuge when a deluge rolled down a river gorge. Only about 1,000 pilgrims were reported safe late Sunday.

Won't Stop Rhee

SEOUL (Monday) (INS)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee today declared that the announced withdrawal of four American divisions from his nation will not stop Republic of Korea troops from marching north to achieve unification.

Rhee, who has repeatedly threatened to take unilateral action to achieve unification of North and South Korea, spoke at a giant "welcome home" rally in Seoul. Some 6,000 Seoul citizens gathered to hear their aged president report on his trip to the United States.

Slaying Admitted

BILOXI, Miss. (INS)—A husky 21-year-old Kansas reformatory parolee, shaking as he recalled details, Sunday told police how he fatally strangled and beat a Monroe, La., music teacher, then took his car for a spree on the Gulf Coast.

Police Chief Herbert McDonnell said Jay Dean Davis, Arkansas City, Kan., signed a confession to the slaying of John L. Adams, 42, Ouachita Parish county elementary school music supervisor. McDonnell said Davis was on parole from the Hutchinson, Kan., Reformatory on a burglary and larceny sentence.

Gunmen Killed

BURBANK, Calif. (INS)—Two police officers killed one bandit and captured his brother in a furious gun battle at almost point-blank range behind the office of a drive-in theater at Burbank, Calif., Sunday.

Officers Robert Wells and Robert Trombley fired four times, sending two bullets tearing into the stomach and mouth of the suspect who fired three wild shots at them. Adolph Handy, 21, of Los Angeles, fell fatally wounded and his brother, William, 32, gave up without drawing the .32 caliber automatic pistol he carried.

Saving Cited

NEW YORK (INS)—The head of a rival combine that wanted to supply power to the TVA said Sunday night his proposal would save the government 150 million dollars as contrasted to the contract made with the Dixon-Yates Southern utility group.

Walter von Tresckow indicated in a statement his group did not get a fair shake from the government agencies that negotiated the Dixon-Yates contract for a $107,250,000 steam generating plant at West Memphis, Ark.

Why Not The Facts?

In the closing hours of debate in the United States Senate while this 83rd Congress was breaking its back to clear its desks, two of the members of the Senate—Anderson of New Mexico and Gore of Tennessee—both Democrats—charged that the Atomic Energy Commission has come up with a contract with Dixon-Yates which does not comply with the atomic energy legislation approved by Congress earlier in the week.

This is no loose charge.

Sen. Anderson and Sen. Gore are recognized by their Senate colleagues as men of high integrity and judicial bearing.

The proposed contract, it was charged, if signed would require the AEC to reimburse

Dixon-Yates for any federal income taxes, income surtaxes or excess profits taxes which may be levied against the company. In addition, Sen. Anderson said the proposed contract would require a further reimbursement in the event "satisfactory" ruling on depreciation allowances for tax purposes were withheld by the Internal Revenue officials.

In final form as sent to the White House, the bill contains an amendment by Sen. Gore which prohibits the government from paying the federal income taxes of the utility combine, it is said.

Here is a case where it should not be too difficult to determine the facts. They should be brought to public attention without delay.

This Question Of Honesty

"Some day, we hope, some president and some Congress will have courage to re-examine and revise this whole Social Security setup. Probably a pay-as-you-go plan would be best. At any rate, the present system of collecting each year far more than is needed from almost everybody, without granting any firm rights to anybody, doesn't meet the elementary requirements of honest insurance."—Extract from the Omaha World-Herald.

That study died a very early death. None of Mr. Curtis's colleagues seemed inclined to join in the findings which reportedly were in the office, and which in the main contained the same criticism of social security which the Herald voices.

Perhaps, Mr. Curtis is the answer to its prayers. He is not a candidate for the presidency, it is true—at least up until now he has announced no candidacy of that nature—but he is seeking a seat in the United States Senate. And under his inspired leadership, if he is elected to a six-year term in the Senate, perhaps Mr. Curtis may find the opportunity ripe to re-examine and revise the whole social security setup along the lines the Herald suggests. If successful in his Senatorial candidacy, he will be there for six years—six long years, we fear—relieved of the necessity of coming up for re-election every two years or of accounting to his constituency every 24 months.

No doubt shortly we shall witness the spectacle of Mr. Curtis asking the people of Nebraska to send him back to Washington to uphold the hands of the President—in all particulars except social security.

After a lapse of years during which millions qualified for social security, it is unthinkable that any President or any Congress would question their rights to social security. The moral obligation is so great that to suggest the absence of a legal contract is fatal is absurd.

Of Men And Things

August of 1954 could turn out to be one of the worst offenders in this matter of traffic fatalities. If the closing day of the month furnishes confirmation of this observation, then increased vacation travel may be held responsible for a mounting highway toll. On the closing day of the week Nebraska's automobile fatalities stood at 200, 27 more than for the same period of time in 1953.

Continuing Task

Little noticed among the more massive pieces of legislation moved by the recent congress was the act that put an end to Armistice day as such and changed the event to Veterans Day.

Armistice day was a limited holiday marking the anniversary of the end of the first global war in which a mature United States participated. Despite its liberalization in recent years it never quite fit the veterans of World War II and those of subsequent overseas action. Changing it to Veterans Day more nearly fits reality.

But there is a saddening commentary on the change. Armistice Day grew out of a hopeful conviction that Americans had fought a war to end war and to make the world safe for democracy. Had it been a valid one then no legislation would have been needed. Apparently the war to end war has not yet been fought any more than security for the free man and his democratic way of life have been achieved. The course has been longer and more tortuous than we thought and our greatest comfort is in the knowledge that we are still able to pursue the noble goal and have made headway.

Wise Old Locust

A Lincoln golfer, suffering unhappily from a chronic shortness of the tee, the other day wound up on the ninth tee at Pioneers with his one wood. But just at that point when the club is highest behind a man and irrevocably committed to the shot, the man was assailed by an abrupt and deafening sound of a hundred moving machines. What happened after that, he is not sure. All of his muscles took off like a covey of quail. He saw the ball no more and hardly remembered swinging.

As he danced back on the tee cowering from the threatening noise, his partner said, "Hold still, there's a locust on your shoulder." And sure enough, there was.

And to top it off, his partner went on to say, "I don't know what you did but you hit a terrific shot." They found his ball up the middle of the fairway almost 285 yards. The Lincoln player is now trying to find that locust. He is crazy to take another golf lesson from him.

Uneager Beaver

A Hastings youngster in one meaningful mouthful pretty well expressed the sentiment of all potential goers-to-school about this time of year, with summer fun rounding out into the last lovely carefree days, and such drudgery as history and multiplication tables looming up darkly just ahead.

A second grader, come September, he explained it this way: "I just don't have the eagerness for it like I had in the first grade!"

West German Parliament Member Labeled 'Traitor'

Schmidt-Wittmack Denounced For His Flight From West

BERLIN (INS) — A member of the West German Parliament who deserted to the Communists last week was labeled a "traitor" Sunday by members of his own party as authorities checked reports he was an unsuspected Red spy.

The Hamburg local of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's Christian Democratic Party held a special Sunday session and expelled Karl Franz Schmidt-Wittmack who represented the port city in the Bundestag, or lower house of the Bonn Parliament.

Schmidt-Wittmack's angry townsmen charged that his flight to Communist East Germany with his wife and daughter was inspired "by the will to betray." They declared that the government lift his parliamentary immunity and put security officers on the case.

The latter, along with all Western intelligence services, were already investigating Schmidt-Wittmack's flight to see if it was linked to the desertion to the Reds last July 20 of Dr. Otto John, former director of West German political intelligence.

No Statement

Except for confirming Saturday night's Communist claim that Schmidt-Wittmack and his family had gone East, the Bonn government issued no statement.

Allied sources said that for the past three weeks, since John's defection, rumors were current that another important West German would desert. Once Schmidt-Wittmack went over to the Reds reports circulated that he might have been a Red agent planted in the nation's leading party.

One report said he was captured by the Russians during World War II and joined the Red-established "committee for free Germany" while in a prison camp.

If this were true it would mean Schmidt-Wittmack had valuable contacts among the East German politicians. The puppet Christian Democratic Union of East Germany announced Sunday they would hold a convention at Weimar on Sept. 21-25.

Another Victory

Although Bonn deputies insisted Schmidt-Wittmack was not an important member of the Bundestag, his defection was regarded as another propaganda victory for the Reds. There was little source in the fact that, over the last four years, 15 members of the East

German Parliament have fled to the West for asylum.

Schmidt-Wittmack was a prosperous Hamburg coal dealer who maintained a residence in both Hamburg and Bonn.

There was still some doubt about how he disappeared. Most reports said he crossed from West Berlin to the East sector, following John's route.

But there was speculation that he entered the Soviet zone from Helmstedt in West Germany and while driving toward Berlin on the 110-mile Autobahn, turned off and sought asylum with the Communists.

Reimann in East

BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet zone's news agency ADN said Sunday Max Reimann, chairman of West Germany's Communist party who is charged with high treason against the Bonn regime, now is in East Germany.

ADN said Reimann attended a track and field meet in Leipzig. It did not say whether he planned to remain in the Soviet zone.

West German authorities at Karlsruhe announced the treason charge against Reimann Saturday but gave no details.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

While airplanes have progressed in stunning leaps from baling wire to jet over the past years, I find that we passengers have progressed not a bit.

We are still telling the same tired jokes to the stewardess. We still approach the airplane with a dubious eye, having no faith in aerodynamics or air foil wings to lift us into the sky.

I did a small check on this the other day, flying from San Francisco to Los Angeles. The result is that I think we are overdue for some new material.

"Shall I hang up your coat, sir?" she said. The two stewardesses on United Air's flight 676 were attractive young ladies in French blue uniform. Stewardesses seem incredibly efficient to me. They bustle down the aisle. They take names of the passengers. They pass out gum and serve a plane load of passengers.

I let her take my coat. I wasn't anxious to part with my coat. But I am afraid to argue with these airborne efficiency experts.

After a while I asked one of them — a Miss Jeanne Arnot of Seattle — what new lines passengers were using these days.

She said they were not using any new lines.

I had been told by a stewardess once that she gets ready to scream when accosted by a bright-eyed passenger with:

"How's the coffee situation?" I asked Miss Arnot if the coffee situation was still being plagued by the riders of the sky.

"I should say so," she said. "And I'll tell you another one. You ask people at lunch 'What will you have—coffee, tea or milk?' So the man says: 'I'll take a martini.'"

I gather that we passengers accompany this remark with sky winks and hearty laughter. For it is a clever riposte.

What we do not know is the stewardess hears this a dozen times a trip. She smiles. But brother, she wants to bounce the tray on your head.

Miss Arnot's partner said there was something else that drove stewardesses off their rockers.

"When you say 'Coffee, tea or milk?', they say, 'Yes.'"

This is not a witty remark. It is simply a bit of bemusement on the part of the gentleman who is being served. Possibly because he is watching to see that the wings are on firmly I know that is why I am slightly vague in the air.

I gather that pilots have their problems too. Everytime they change engine speeds or whatever they do, they must make an announcement of same. Else the passenger alights convinced that mighty mechanical problems were afoot up in the front office. And he has had a narrow call.

This makes wonderful dinner table conversation. But it is very bad for the airline business.

I am able to report that the flight went along nicely. The sky was deep blue and the Pacific lying under the wing was laced with whitecaps.

Lunch was served while the pilot spoke to us on the pipe at intervals in soothing terms.

"Santa Barbara is now under our left wing," said the disconnected voice. "We will be approaching the most dangerous part of our trip in half an hour—your ride home from the airport. Please drive safely."

"Coffee, tea or milk?" said Miss Arnot.

"I really don't know," I said miserably. "Would you mind choosing for me?"

She chose milk. For a while I thought she was going to tuck a napkin under my chin too.

And the only reason I bring this all up is so that you won't be embarrassed next time you board a plane. And possibly will have some fresh laughs and witty sayings for the ladies who must smile through gritted teeth.

The coffee situation is OK. No need to ask. You can take the word of a thousand stewardesses. They answer it every day.

Children's Social Conflicts Studied

EAST LANSING, Mich. (INS) — Two Michigan State College psychologists are trying to find out what happens in the minds of children who don't get their way.

Dr. Harold H. Anderson and his wife, Dr. Gladys L. Anderson, are studying social conflicts in children on a world basis. They have just returned from Europe, and have completed the testing of 7,750 children in six countries.

It will take the Andersons two years to complete their data and analyze and interpret what happens to the thoughts of children after conflict. The findings will be put under four headings: hostility and aggression, ambiguous or indecisive conclusions, submissions, and creative problem-solving.

To parents and psychologists this will mean additional information about children in regards to anxiety, escape from reality, lying, cheating, deception, punishment and fair play.

The tests, which the Andersons gave to seventh graders in Sweden, Germany, Norway and England, consisted of incomplete stories to be completed by the children. The tests have been also given in the U.S. and Mexico.

Vietnam U.S. Aid Expands

Ike's Address To Nation Readied

DENVER (INS) — President Eisenhower put in a Sunday session with his speech writers at the Summer White House in Denver for the major address he will deliver Monday summing up the record of Congress.

The "vacationing" chief executive, who arrived in Denver Saturday, checked in at his Lowry Field office at 10:45 a.m. to work on his half hour radio-television speech scheduled for Monday at 6 p.m. MST (8 p.m. CST).

At the same time, the Summer White House announced that U.S. Naval ships will expand the evacuation operation of Indochinese refugees from northern Vietnam to 100,000.

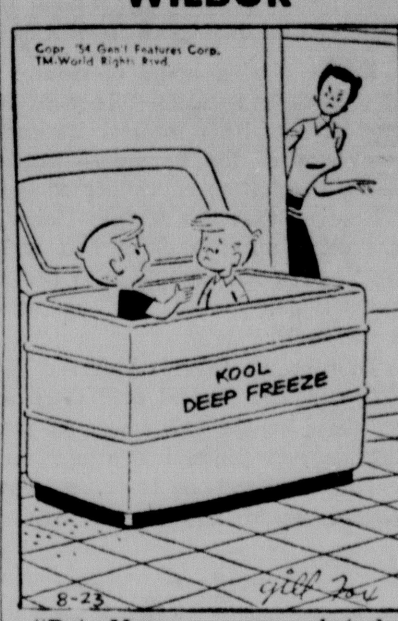

Several thousand refugees moving out of the Communist sector of Vietnam have already been transported southward by American vessels, including transport ships and commercial freighters.

To Use LSTs
The expanded program will use mainly World War II LSTs in evacuating the refugees to free Vietnam. The French Air Force is presently air-lifting approximately 3,400 refugees a day from Hanoi and Haphong to the Saigon area. It is estimated at least 200,000 civilian refugees must be moved before Sept. 10.

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said in a statement issued at the President's vacation headquarters:

"The United States will continue to assist the Vietnamese government, headed by Prime Minister Ngo Dinh Diem, in their humanitarian endeavor to bring the Vietnamese to free Vietnam."

"It is noteworthy that although Vietnamese from Tonkin are clam-oring to leave the area, soon to be under Communist rule, no Vietnam adherents from free Vietnam have clamored to be transported north to settle in that area under the government of Ho Chi Minh."

Orders for the expanded refugee operation went out to Adm. Felix Stump, the Pacific commander in chief, after discussion at the cabinet and national security council meetings last week.

The President had planned to spend a leisurely Sunday at the home of the first lady's mother, Mrs. John S. Doud, but changed his mind and summoned four aids to the speech-writing session.

Hastings School Is Dedicated

Sunday Ceremony Opens $76,238 Structure

Lincoln Star Special
HASTINGS, Neb.—The Most Rev. Bishop L. B. Kucera gave his blessing and a special dedication Sunday to the new St. Michael's School here, located near St. Michael's Church.

Celebrant at the solemn benediction was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael C. Grogan, who was assisted by Fathers James Halligan, Daniel Richard and Max G. DeWitt.

A light sprinkle of rain which fell as the processional moved from the church to the school failed to dampen the spirits of the more than 350 persons attending the ceremony. The shower was over before the service at the school was completed.

A dinner for the attending clergy was held at the school following the dedication.

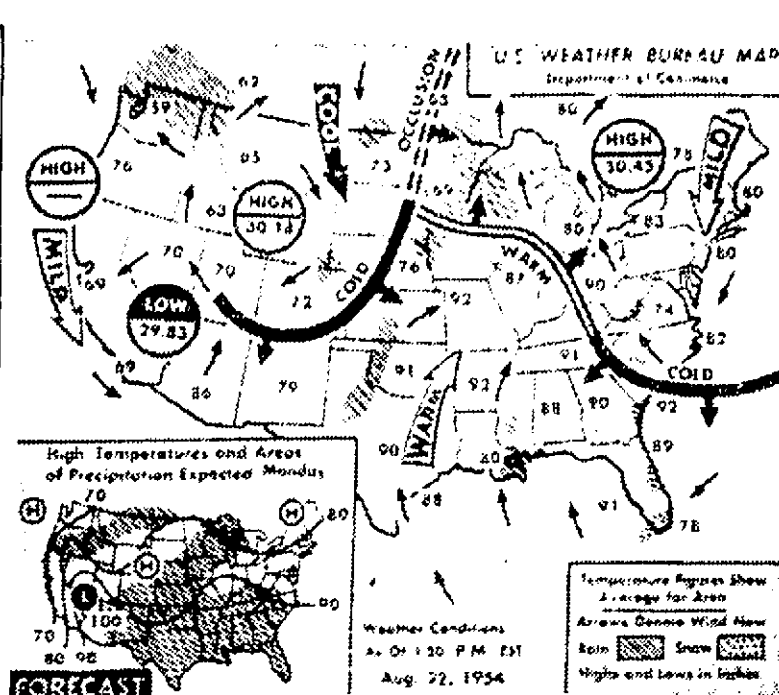

Designed by Architect Glen W. Bouton of Hastings, the grade school building is a one-story structure of rose-face tile backed with concrete block. Each of the six classrooms has two small annexes which house a cloakroom and storage cupboards and sinks. Two of the rooms are divided by an accordion door which can be opened to form one large assembly hall of the two rooms.

The corridor walls are of smooth, red-sealed structural face tile; the ceilings are of exposed light-weight painted tile, and the windows are of the aluminum awning type, mounted in glass brick.

The contracts, which were awarded in June, 1953, totaled $76,238.91. The Fast Construction Company of Hastings was the general contractor.

The Rev. Charles J. Keenan, St. Michael's pastor, supervised the entire project. Assistant pastor is the Rev. John M. Herbert.

Oil Starts Through Deshler Station

Oil can't wait, even for buildings. The new pumping station of the Platte Pipeline Co. being built near Deshler is well underway. But even before it

Improved Quality Help In Boosting Egg Income

Nebraska egg producers can increase their present returns from eggs by producing top quality eggs and selling them on a graded basis, according to Paul C. Clayton, extension marketing specialist.

In all areas of the state, it would pay the producers of quality eggs to do a little "shopping around" for one of these markets, he concludes.

Moorefield Bonds Election Tuesday

MOOREFIELD, Neb. — Voters will go to the polls Tuesday to decide upon the issuance of $28,000 in bonds to finance construction of a new school building in District No. 38.

The money would be used to construct a modern, one story building. The proposed building would have two classrooms and kitchen facilities. It would be used for grade school purposes only. Moorefield has no high school.

The decision to call the special election was made at the July 26 meeting of the school board. The present school building is in need of repair.

Many of the Nebraska producers now receiving 20 to 25 cents a dozen on the current receipt market could get 10 to 15 cents more a dozen by producing top quality eggs and selling on a graded basis, Clayton added. Although a graded or quality market is not available

Why Not The Facts?

In the closing hours of debate in the United States Senate while this 83rd Congress was breaking its back to clear its desks, two of the members of the Senate — Anderson of New Mexico and Gore of Tennessee—both Democrats—charged that the Atomic Energy Commission has come up with a contract with Dixon-Yates which does not comply with the atomic energy legislation approved by Congress earlier in the week.

This is no loose charge. Sen. Anderson and Sen. Gore are recognized by their Senate colleagues as men of high integrity and judicial bearing. The proposed contract, it was charged, if signed would require the AEC to reimburse

Dixon-Yates for any federal income taxes, income surtaxes or excess profits taxes which may be levied against the company. In addition, Sen. Anderson said the proposed contract would require a further reimbursement in the event "satisfactory" ruling on depreciation allowances for tax purposes were withheld by the Internal Revenue officials. In final form as sent to the White House, the bill contains an amendment by Sen. Gore which prohibits the government from paying the federal income taxes of the utility combine, it is said. Here is a case where it should not be too difficult to determine the facts. They should be brought to public attention without delay.

This Question Of Honesty

"Some day, we hope, some president and some Congress will have courage to re-examine and revise this whole Social Security setup. Probably a pay-as-you-go plan would be best. At any rate, the present system of collecting each year far more than is needed from almost everybody, without granting any firm rights to anybody, doesn't meet the elementary requirements of honest insurance."—Extract from the Omaha World-Herald.

The lines which appear above were inspired by one of the final steps taken by the 83rd Congress. The Eisenhower Administration's new Social Security program, approved by Congress in its closing hours, will add an additional 10 million persons for Social Security benefits to those already qualified under the Act. They will have to make social security payments whether they want to or not, the Herald notes. The contribution which each individual eligible for social security benefits makes is about the "only resemblance which the program has to insurance," it adds. "The beneficiary has no legal rights."

What the Herald says sounds very similar to what Rep. Carl Curtis of Nebraska has been saying off and on for some time. Mr. Curtis, it will be remembered, headed up a House subcommittee making a study of social security.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

August of 1954 could turn out to be one of the worst offenders in this matter of traffic fatalities. If the closing day of the month furnishes confirmation of this observation, then increased vacation travel may be held responsible for a mounting highway toll. On the closing day of the week Nebraska's automobile fatalities stood at 200, 27 more than for the same period of time in 1953.

Starting early in the spring and continuing through the summer, it was the busy weekends, seemingly, which contributed most heavily to the traffic toll. Not a single week passed unmarked by the loss of at least one life on the highways over the Sabbath and frequently there were four or five persons killed. August has seen a slight change in the pattern, with deaths on the highways coming as frequently during the week days as on weekends. Any attempted study of the contributing causes of mounting traffic fatalities fails to establish any one main contributing factor. The suggestion that the condition of the Nebraska road system is primarily responsible falls in the face of the fact that in neighboring states, where the highway systems are said to be in better condition, the same increase in fatalities has taken place. Nor will more rigid enforcement of traffic laws eliminate accidents entirely. Not until the individual autoist takes the matter of highway safety more seriously can it be anticipated that there will be any marked improvement. Nebraska seems to be heading for a new all-time record in automobile fatalities with some of the more dangerous driving weather yet ahead.

Slight Change In Pattern

We do not know that we can go the full length of the road with Paul Shively, who was quoted as saying that driver training in public schools should be compulsory, and was just as important as history or English in a student's education. But the Legislative Council study resulting in recommendations to put teeth in the drivers' license law and to extend driver education programs in the schools reflects a growing concern over the loss of life on Nebraska highways.

Gov. Bob Crosby, vacationing with his family in Colorado (incidentally, the governor's first vacation since he took office), pleased a lot of the people of Nebraska City midweek. He had a date there as the honored guest of Nebraska City's Centennial program, and then discovered that due to weather conditions, it was impossible to land where he had planned to put down. But the governor got down to earth at another landing field, made a hurried automobile trip to Nebraska City, thoroughly enjoyed himself, and in the words of the Nebraska City News-Press, a good time was had by all. Unfortunately for the governor, there were not enough of those experiences in advance of the August primary to enable him to nose out Carl Curtis for the long-term nomination for the Senate.

Now that Congress has adjourned, Rep. Curtis may find it necessary to stay in Washington to catch up on back work. He was absent much of the time during the closing weeks of the session campaigning out here in Nebraska. Chances are, however, he'll lose very little time getting out to the home folks for another lusty round of hand-shaking.

Second Ingredient

There's no argument in the assertion that adolescent conversation makes about as much sense as some of the adult conversation that is bantered about in select circles. Witness the following between pint-sized punchers on opposite sides of a West Point street: "I've got a real bullet!" "Aw, you don't either have." "Yes, I do have!" "Well, shoot it, then!" "A moment's pause..." "But I don't have a real gun!"

DREW PEARSON

Ike Now Collects Fee While Tears Are Hot

WASHINGTON—Most important development to come out of the current session of Congress was not the legislation passed but the education of Dwight D. Eisenhower. He has now learned the techniques of being President.

Ike went into the first session of Congress more than a year ago, nervous, ill-at-ease, dubious about his job. He has come out of this session with political know-how. He now knows how Congress works, how to crack the whip, how to push a program through despite opposition.

He knows how to stay back in the general headquarters tent and let the lieutenants slug it out in the first line trenches. This was something Franklin Roosevelt knew how to do to perfection, but which Harry Truman never learned. Truman could never resist going into battle himself, almost seemed to relish getting his nose bloodied. He never let his cabinet members take the punishment for him, Ike does.

Some of Ike's leaders have been so battered and bruised that their political future is dubious. But the Gallup Poll shows Eisenhower's rating is still in the upper brackets. Sen. Knowland has been so tough, has aroused so much resentment that he may be ditched at the next Congress. Congressman Halleck in the House cracked the whip so hard some of his Republican colleagues hate him. The President was able to stay aloof, unsullied.

Most important lesson Eisenhower learned was what every lawyer knows: "Collect your fee while your client's tears are hot." He failed to collect his fee in the first session of Congress last year when his popularity was at its height and his power over Congress at its peak. Instead of collecting he let Congress adjourn last summer after passing only the refugee immigration bill, a curtailed military budget, and other minor legislation.

Almost the entire program was postponed until this year. That was the reason for the logjam, for the killing pace at which Congress has been working in recent weeks.

For by this time Ike knew he was up against the wall, that he had to get his program passed at this session or never. He had learned the importance of collecting your fee while your client's tears are hot.

He had also realized that history would mark him a mediocre President unless he got results this time around. To a close friend he had confided last winter: "If I had remained a military man, my record would have stood

MARQUIS CHILDS

Another Near East Sore Spot Erupting

FEZ, Morocco—It may not be war that is going on in this strife-ridden land, but here at Fez in the ancient Medina, seat of so many mosques and shrines holy to the Moslems, it looks remarkably like war. An occupation by at least 2,000 troops of the Foreign Legion was carried out in orderly, efficient and bloodless fashion to subdue the boiling, pent-up emotions of some 250,000 Arabs and thereby try to prevent new outbreaks of violence.

So successful has the occupation been that General Laparra, French governor of the region of Fez, believes he can withdraw most of the troops leaving small contingents stationed around certain critical areas. He laughs when he is asked if all the extremists in the independence movement and the fanatical Nationalists and killers have been captured in the series of arrests made immediately after the occupation. Of course not, he says. They are mostly still hidden within the vastness of the Medina, many of them having taken asylum within the grand mosque of Moulay Idriss.

But according to General Laparra, the occupation has quieted the populace. It is like a pot of boiling water, he says, and you must hold the lid on until it cools.

Walking through the Medina under occupation is an unforgettable experience. There is about it an almost incredible theatricality. This is the ancient past, the pre-Biblical past, held behind the massive walls of the Medina at bayonet point. And yet, despite the quiet, the strangely subdued air, one can almost hear the ferment of forces long suppressed.

Even in normal times the Medina of Fez is for the foreigner a somewhat disquieting experience. The visitor from a small west European city is so completely swallowed up in its dark intricate twistings and turnings. Veteran French officials frankly admit that it is in large part unfathomable and unknown.

But in normal times the byways are filled with noisy life, with a pushing and pulling and shouting still only at times of prayer. Now it is quiet, so quiet that the sound of French walkies chattering from command post to command post breaks the silence. The shops are shuttered and locked. A few merchants bold enough to alongside that of any of our great military figures."

Then he went on to say that now, as President, he realized his place in history would not be based on his record as a military man but on his record as President. And he sounded a bit sorry that he had taken on the job—but also determined to make it a success.

That's the background behind the drive, the determination to keep Congress at it far after the scheduled time for adjournment. It's been a rough session, but it should pay political dividends in the end.

IKE'S TOUGH MACHINE

Every President develops his "machine" to influence votes on Capitol Hill. But none has ever operated more efficiently, more ruthlessly than that which rammed Ike's program through Congress. Instead of one lone Capitol Hill contact man, such as Jim Barnes or Joe Feeney, used by Truman, Ike had a battery of eight. Its leaders were: Maj. Gen. "Slick" Persons and Gerald Morgan, once paid $10,000 a month to lobby for private business.

In addition, various cabinet members backed up the battery. Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey was chief backstage wire-puller in passing the St. Lawrence Seaway; while Postmaster General Summerfield took the prize as heaviest-handed.

When Congressmen Robert Corbett and James Fulton of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, failed to support Summerfield's postage stamp increase bill, a traveling post office hatchet man named Gerald Cullinan turned up in their home districts to apply the pressure on the voters back home.

Other non-conforming congressmen were hauled down to Summerfield's office. Congressman Joe Evins of Tennessee was told to vote "right" or expect no help on a mail transportation problem in his district. And when Congressman Otto Passman of Louisiana signed a discharge petition to force the postal pay boost bill out of the rules committee over Summerfield's head, an unusual thing happened in New Orleans.

Summerfield had fired the postmaster of New Orleans, A. Frank Fairley, who happened to be a good friend of Congressman Passman's. But, believe it or not, when Passman agreed to take his name off the petition to force a vote on the postal pay bill, Postmaster Fairley was reinstated.

Such were the tactics used in one of the roughest, toughest sessions of Congress Washington has seen in this century.

BILL DOBLER At City Hall

O Street Signal System Studied

A number of people have asked different questions in regard to turns on O street from 10th to 13th.

These questions center around right-hand turns. Some time ago the Police Department took the policemen off the corners and used portable signs to control the turns. No right-hand turns at all were permitted when the signs were out.

The signs Bill Dobler were later removed and the policemen placed back on the corners. The signs, according to Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge, were not solving the problem, as they only sent all the right turners to 14th and O to develop a bottleneck there.

The policemen, Junge pointed out, can wave cars on if there are too many turns but can also let some of the right turns go through by holding back pedestrians.

There is little that can be said against those points but when policemen are needed as badly as Chief of Police Joseph Carroll reports it seems like a waste of manpower to have those men on the corners. Lincoln has spent a lot of money on new signal systems recently and a lot more is to be spent.

The idea was to modernize the system but the modernization might not have gone far enough. Apparently signals that can be synchronized for traffic in one direction only are not enough.

The movement of traffic has become so complicated that such things as turns are a vital consideration. Many cities have gotten at the problem with signals that have a separate light for turns without any interference from pedestrians or other cross traffic.

This may not be the answer in Lincoln but the various signal systems on the market might well be investigated before any more are purchased for the city. The new signal system on N Street would end up pretty costly if it was obsolete in another three or four years. Many people have suggested right-hand turns on red light. This is also used in many other cities but not often found where there is only a two-street intersection.

Such turns on red lights would run the turning traffic into cars moving ahead with the green light from the other direction. The plan would work, of course, when traffic was light but it would probably mean a lot of dented fenders and frayed tempers during rush hours.

The City Council, it would seem, acted wisely when it decided against a plan submitted by Chief Carroll for policemen to work 60 rather than 48-hour week if they desired to do so. The plan was feasible in that it would have given the department the additional man-hours it needs and from experienced men. It would have meant that new men would not have to be added to the force.

The plan probably would not have cost much more than hiring new men since the rate of pay for the 60 hours was proposed at the same rate as for 48 hours. The main objection to the idea comes from speculation.

The big expense would have come when and if the police wanted to go back to 48 hours next year or the year after. It can't be recalled here when hours were ever cut back with a corresponding cut in salaries.

Hours for firemen, water and light department employees and others have been cut in the past but the total pay has remained the same. The cut in hours is then generally followed the next year with a request for more pay.

The Council, however, has not solved the problem as seen by Carroll. Perhaps a little more discussion of Carroll's proposal, either with the chief or Welfare and Safety Director Emmett Junge, would have shed more light on the problem and given greater satisfaction to all, even if no solution were found.

Carroll, like Fire Chief Paul Feaster, has the problem of policemen having to work two jobs to make ends meet because of the low wage scale. It is doubtful, however, that the Council could have done much on wages, regardless of how much discussion there was.

A raise for policemen would have been difficult without raises everywhere else and the money was not there for such a program. Incidentally, this is the third time that raises to city employees have been denied every fifth year.

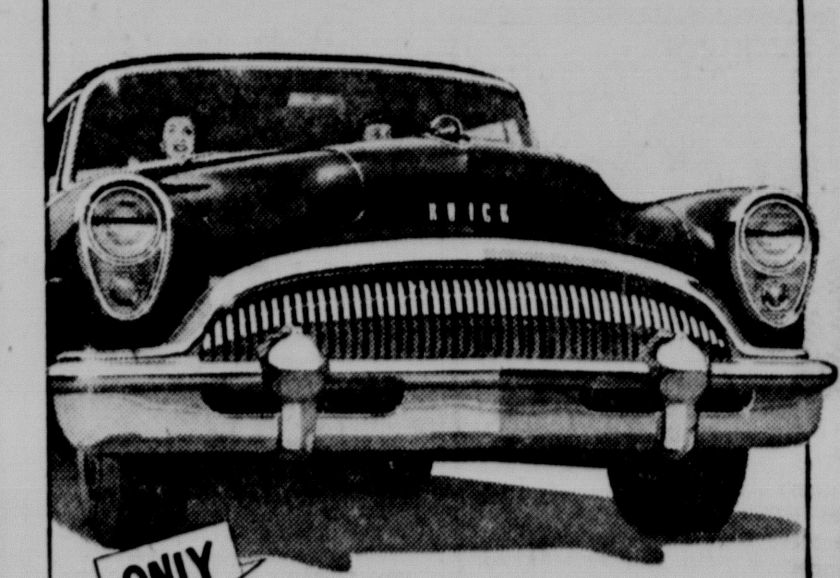

There were no general increases to city employees in 1944, 1949 and 1954 after increases were granted in each of the previous four years. Maybe this is a good sign for next year for the employees.

MRS. RICHARD E. BUSH

MRS. THOMAS A. WITTY, JR.

For her marriage to Richard E. Bush, on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 22, Miss Barbara Jean Hershberger, daughter of Mrs. Helen Hershberger of Seward, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The off-shoulder neckline of the long-sleeved lace bodice, was banded with sequins and seed pearls, and the wide skirt was fashioned of froths of tulle. A half-hat of lace held to the head her double-tiered waist-length veil of silk illusion, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids encircled with stephanotis.

The wedding took place at the First Methodist Church in Seward, with the Rev. F. C. Friederich reading the lines of the 4 o'clock ceremony before a background of chrysanthemums, asters and gladioli, shading from pale pink to deep rose. Miss Sharon Cook of Lexington, organist, played the wedding music, and accompanied Miss Janelle Mohr, the soloist.

The empire frocks of peacock blue crystal chosen for the attendants, Miss Shirley Coy of Waterloo, the maid of honor; Mrs. Gerald Matzke, Lincoln; Miss Gretchen Geesen and Mrs. William Marting, the bridesmaids, were fashioned with V-necked bracelet-sleeved bodices above full ballerina skirts that were completed with brief back bustles. They carried crescent bouquets of fuchsia chrysanthemums shading from pink to rose. The candles were lighted by Miss Ernestine Bush of McCook, and Miss Virginia Guhn of Lincoln, both in white satin choir robes.

William Karrer of McCook served Mr. Bush as best man, and the ushers included Gerald Matzke, Lincoln; Burgess Marshall, McCook, and William Little, Deshler.

Mrs. Bush is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi, and Pi Lambda Theta. The bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Bush, McCook, attended McCook Junior College and is a Phi Gamma Delta at the University of Nebraska where, following a tour of duty in Korea, he now will complete his senior year.

SCHLEGEL-WITTY

At a candlelight ceremony solemnized Sunday evening, Aug. 22, Miss Mary Anne Schlegel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Schlegel, became the bride of Thomas A. Witty Jr., son of Mrs. Lela Witty of Lincoln, and Thomas A. Witty of Red Oak, Ia. Altar arrangements of white gladioli, and white cathedral candles burning in pedestal candelabra appointed the chapel of St. Paul Methodist Church for the 8 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Rex Knowles.

Costumed alike in silk crystallette in the cranberry ice tone were Miss Sharon Kreuch, as the maid of honor, Miss Rita Dorn and Miss Phyllis Keim, the bridesmaids, and Miss Joan Reifschneider, the junior bridesmaid, who carried crescents of white feathered carnations. Wearing similar frocks were Miss Iva Jane Kidwell, the flower girl, and Miss Carolee Brehm and Mrs. Haskell Fishel, who lighted the candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of nylon tulle over taffeta embroidered in the rose motif. Embroidered applique framed the decolletage of the Empire bodice, which was filled in with narrowly-tucked tulle, and the sleeves were long and fitted. Beneath the snug waist, the skirt was shirred into fullness and ended in a slight train. Her imported illusion veil was held by a coronet of iridescent sequins and pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Serving as best man was Jan Pickard, and seating the guests were Frank Schlegel, brother of the bride, Donald B. Kidwell and John McGreer III.

Mr. and Mrs. Witty will reside in Virginia, where the bridegroom is stationed with the Armed Forces, until December when they will return to Lincoln to make their home. A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Towne Club. Mr. Witty has attended the University of Nebraska.

THERE'S one thing to be said for Nebraska—when it rains it REALLY rains—Up to the moment, however, we have heard few complaints and their lack, no doubt is due to unfond memories of July—But maybe today is the day the sun will shine—But we won't mind too much if there is no sun, for the dawn is quite rosy for us—We have news of two brides-elect and their wedding dates.

THIS morning Miss Caroline Rogers tells us that she has chosen Saturday, Sept. 11, for her marriage to John Mills. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the First Presbyterian church. Another prenuptial social whirl for Miss Rogers began last evening when Mrs. James Kinsinger and her daughter, Miss Mary Elizabeth Kinsinger, were hostesses at supper at their home—

ON Tuesday Miss Rogers will take time out to entertain for another bride-elect, Miss Nancy Farnsworth, whose marriage to John Arthur Graf, Jr., will take place on Sept. 26—Miss Rogers has invited a small group of guests for a brunch at her home, and will present the honoree with a hostess gift.

WEDNESDAY will be a particularly busy day for Miss Rogers—She will be the incentive for a luncheon at the home of Mrs. L. H. Chambers when Mrs. Chambers and Mrs. Mattie Black entertain a small group of guests and when the soon-to-be bride will be presented with a hostess gift.

On Wednesday evening Miss Rogers will again be an honoree when Miss Nancy Norman is a dessert supper hostess at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Jack Ludi.

JUST learned that Jane Rosamond Bergquist, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald S. Bergquist of Lincoln, has named the date for her wedding to Lt. Tom L. Larsen. The afternoon ceremony will be at 4:30 o'clock Saturday, Sept. 11, at Westminster Presbyterian Church. Miss Bergquist, a Delta Gamma at the University of Nebraska, will finish her schooling at the University of Houston, where her fiancé is stationed at Ellington Air Force Base. Lt. Larsen, a graduate of the University of Nebraska where he is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard P. Larsen of Lincoln.

FLASH from the west coast announces the birth of a daughter, Margaret Allison, to Mr. and Mrs. William Munson of Mill Valley, Calif., on Thursday, Aug. 19. Mrs. Munson is the former Catherine Ham, daughter of Mrs. Hemine Ham, and Gamma Phi Beta at Nebraska. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Munson.

We hear that Mrs. Ham was on hand to greet her young granddaughter, and will return to Lincoln early in September.

Married At Church Ceremonies

MRS. HAROLD O. NOBLE

MRS. JOHN REIGERT, JR.

The marriage of Miss Mary Lou Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schwartz, and Harold O. Noble, son of Mrs. Lulu Noble, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, Aug. 22, at Christ Methodist Church. Pedestal arrangements of white gladioli, with blue-tinted centers, formed the background for the service, which was read by the Rev. Victor West of Bryan Memorial Methodist Church.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Robert Wurz sang "At Dawning," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Miss Mary Alice Macy, organist.

Wearing identical costumes of pastel blue nylon net over satins, fashioned with fitted basques and full, waltz-length skirts were Miss Janice Williamson, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Beverly Spomer, Miss Shirley Scharton and Miss Sandra Crocker. They carried crescent bouquets of white gladioli florets, and white and blue tinted carnations.

Serving as best man was Lewis Noble, and the ushers were Marvin Hall of Waverly, Charles Phillips and Jack Schwartz.

The bride appeared in a gown of white tulle and French lace over satin designed in the colonial mode. The strapless bodice of lace was veiled by a brief, lace jacket accented by long sleeves and snugly buttoned to the high, turned-down collar. Beneath a shirred pleum of the lace, which tapered to a point at the back, the tulle skirt was caught into fullness. A cap of lace edged with pearls held her veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis.

Following the reception, which was held in the church parlors, Mr. Noble and his bride left for a trip to Colorado, later to reside in Lincoln.

The bridegroom is a former student of the University of Nebraska.

For the wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Miller of Fairbury, and John Reigert, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reigert of Lincoln, which took place on Sunday evening, Aug. 22, the chancel of the First Methodist Church in Fairbury was arranged with coral-toned gladioli, in pedestal baskets, and lighted cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra. One hundred and twenty-five guests were present for the reading of the 7 o'clock service by the Rev. A. W. Johnson, and the wedding music was played by Jon Orndorff, organist. Mr. Orndorff also accompanied Miss Elaine Carlson who sang preceding the ceremony.

Net over taffeta was chosen for the costume of the attendants including the matron of honor, Mrs. Paul Fredstrom of Lincoln, in green; and the bridesmaids, Miss Joan Miller, sister of the bride, and Miss Marilyn Iverson, both in the coral shade. Their head bands and mitts reflected the tones of their frocks, and their bouquets, coral gladioli for Mrs. Fredstrom, and green tinted chrysanthemums for the bridesmaids, were modern colonial.

Elmer Hohnstein of Lincoln served Mr. Reigert as best man, and the ushers were James Reigert, brother of the bridegroom, and David Paul Weber, both of Lincoln.

Imported French hand-clipped Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned the waltz-length gown chosen by the bride. Above the bouffant skirt, with its shadow hemline of natural lace scallops, the sculptured bodice was designed with a bateau neckline, and was worn under a long-sleeved lace jacket which was closed with minute self-fabric buttons from the mandarin collar to the waist. Her double-tiered, fingertip veil was held to the head with a calot fashioned of rows of Venice lace, and she carried a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Reigert will be graduated in September from the Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing. The bridegroom is a former student at the University of Nebraska.

MRS. DONALD LEE JOHNSON

MRS. PHILLIP CURLEY

In the presence of the members of the immediate families and a small group of friends, the marriage of Miss Betty Hugh Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blonnie H. Williams, and Donald Lee Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Johnson of Pueblo, Colo., was solemnized late Sunday morning, Aug. 22, at the home of the bride's parents.

Lighted white candles and fan-shaped arrangements of white and pink gladioli and lemon leaves were placed against a background of silvered foliage to form the living room decor for the 10:30 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Gordon H. Schroeder of the First Baptist Church. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Lela Pierce, pianist, who also presented a prelude including "I Love You Truly," "Because" and "Clair de Lune."

The bride chose for her wedding a gown of white crystallette. The softly draped Empire bodice was designed with an off-shoulder decolletage, and the brief sleeves were caught into narrow folds. Beneath the snug waist, the circular skirt flared into waltz length, and her cap of pleated crystallette was veiled with illusion. She wore wrist mitts of white lace and carried a white Bible ornamented with a cluster of gardenias and pink rosebuds.

As her sister's maid of honor and only attendant, Miss Dorothy Williams was costumed in pink taffeta and nylon sheer. A bateau neckline and cap sleeves accented the taffeta basque, and the ballerina skirt was fashioned of floral-patterned sheer.

Serving Mr. Johnson as best man was Glen Hudson of D-S Moines, Ia.

Following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast for the members of the family and bridal party was held at Cotner Terrace. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a trip to Estes Park, Colo., after which they will reside at Pueblo where both are members of the public schools faculty.

Mrs. Johnson attended the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Xi Delta, and the bridegroom is a former student at the University of Denver.

NUSS-CURLEY

Lighted cathedral candles in seven-branched candelabra, summer blossoms, and greenery appointed the chancel of the Federated Church in Sutton where the marriage of Miss Janet Mildred Nuss, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Nuss, to Dr. Phillip Warren Curley, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Curley of Seward was solemnized at a 7 o'clock ceremony on Sunday evening, Aug. 22. The Rev. Arthur W. Krebs, minister of the Federated Church, read the lines, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. James M. Barbee, organist. Mrs. Barbee also accompanied Miss Leila Gass of Hastings, the soloist.

Wearing identical waltz-length frocks of white tulle over taffeta, the attendants were Miss Victoria Nuss, who was her sister's maid of honor, Miss Ellen Svoboda, Cozad, and Miss Barbara Colwell, Pawnee City, the bridesmaids. The strapless bodices, worn under tulle bolero jackets, had waistline bows of taffeta above the extremely bouffant skirts. Each wore a hair band of white tulle, and each carried a miniature cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Doyle D. Sunberg of Osceola, and Mrs. Wendell Lauber of Geneva, wore white choir robes for the candle lighting.

Robert Pearson of Lyons served Dr. Curley as best man, and seating the guests were Richard Nuss, brother of the bride, and Dr. Doyle Sunberg of Osceola.

The bridal gown was fashioned of Rosepoint lace and tulle over satin. The long-sleeved, lace bodice was designed with a tulle yoke encircled with embroidered lace roses dotted with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The lace was repeated in side panniers which draped to the back over the wide tulle skirt, and formed a panel which extended into the long, cathedral train. A frilled half-bonnet of smocked tulle, ornamented with seed pearls, held to head her double-tiered, waist-length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses.

After the reception, held in the church parlors for the 250 wedding guests, Dr. Curley and his bride left for the west coast where the bridegroom will be stationed with the Naval Dental Corps at the Mare Island Naval Base, California. For traveling Mrs. Curley wore a cinnamon-toned frock, with black velvet accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. Dr. Curley was graduated from the University of Nebraska College of Dentistry, and is a member of Delta Sigma Delta, dental fraternity.

Marriage Solemnized

MRS. WILLIAM B. JOHNSON

The chancel of the First Lutheran Church at Kearney was lighted by tall white candles, and appointed with arrangements of white gladioli, for the marriage of Miss Lorna Stutheit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Stutheit of Kearney, and William B. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Oscar Johnson of Lincoln, on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 22. The Rev. Ronald Ebb read the lines of the 3 o'clock service.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Ed Miller, organist, who also accompanied Miss Beth Keenan and Miss Rosemary Weeks, violinists, and Milford Gullen, the vocal soloist.

Miss Martia Stutheit, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Roberta Case and Miss Jane Munro, wore alike frocks of pale green Swiss organdy embroidered in a floral pattern. Wearing similar costumes were Miss Kathleen Schulte of Burr, and Miss Arlene Foster, who lighted the candles.

White imported organdy patterned in a daisy motif fashioned the bride's colonial gown. Long, fitted sleeves and a low, scalloped neckline accented the snug basque, beneath which the wide skirt was formed of deep, scalloped tiers of the organdy. A small organdy cap held her veil of illusion, and she carried a shower of white carnations and stephanotis.

Serving as best man was Fred Seger of Lexington, and the ushers were Bob Kirkendall, Grand Island, Charles Johnson, Don Weber and Willard Fagler, Lincoln.

Mr. Johnson and his bride, both former students at the University of Nebraska, will reside at Peoria, Ill. The bridegroom was a member of the Varsity basketball team and of N Club.

Celebrates Birthday

Friday, Aug. 20, was a red letter day for Elwood Crow and his neighbors in and around Emerald. On Friday Mr. Crow celebrated his 95th birthday anniversary at his home, where he resides with his daughter, Miss Ella Crow, and his son, George. During the afternoon 40 of his Emerald neighbors and old friends attended an open house at the family home, and were served refreshments from a table appointed with two large birthday cakes.

Mr. Crow has resided in Nebraska for 72 years, and at his present home in Emerald for 32 years.

Among the open house guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Harris of Penton, Ore., former neighbors of Mr. Crow in Emerald.

Hastings School Is Dedicated

Sunday Ceremony Opens $76,238 Structure

Lincoln Star Special
HASTINGS, Neb.—The Most Rev. Bishop L. B. Kucera gave his blessing and a special dedication Sunday to the new St. Michael's School here, located near St. Michael's Church.

Celebrant at the solemn benediction was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael C. Grogan, who was assisted by Fathers James Halligan, Daniel Richard and Max G. DeWitt.

A light sprinkle of rain which fell as the processional moved from the church to the school failed to dampen the spirits of the more than 350 persons attending the ceremony. The shower was over before the service at the school was completed.

A dinner for the attending clergy was held at the school following the dedication.

Designed by Architect Glen W. Bouton of Hastings, the grade school building is a one-story structure of rose-face tile backed with concrete block. Each of the six classrooms has two small annexes which house a cloakroom and storage cupboards and sinks. Two of the rooms are divided by an accordion door which can be opened to form one large assembly hall of the two rooms.

The corridor walls are of smooth, red-sealed structural face tile; the ceilings are of exposed light-weight painted tile, and the windows are of the aluminum awning type, mounted in glass brick.

The contracts, which were awarded in June, 1953, totaled $76,238.91. The Fast Construction Company of Hastings was the general contractor.

The Rev. Charles J. Keenan, St. Michael's pastor, supervised the entire project. Assistant pastor is the Rev. John M. Herbert.

Wallace Weekly Ends Publication

WALLACE, Neb.—The Wallace Winner, a weekly newspaper published here for the last three years by Guy Witter, has suspended publication.

The newspaper reportedly suspended operations because of lack of sufficient support by business firms in the town, along with increased cost of newspaper operation. Witter and his family have moved to Crete.

R. J. Crom Otoo County Agent

SYRACUSE, Neb. — Richard J. Crom, 24, assistant Otoo County Agent, has been named county agent to replace A. H. DeLong, who will retire Sept. 1.

Crew Saved

KUSHIRO (Monday) (INS)—The Japanese Maritime Safety Board in Kushiro said that two of its patrol boats sneaked into Russian territory under cover of darkness and rescued 10 crew members of a stranded Japanese fishing vessel.

The board said the rescue was made at Russian occupied Todoko Island in the Kuriles where the 28-ton Shoen Maru ran aground.

Questions On Insects Occupy County Agents

The answering of questions to insects requires a good deal of the time of the agricultural extension agents in the United States.

In extending the results of agricultural research to rural communities where the new knowledge can be put to use raising better crops and livestock, these agents estimate that during the growing season more than one-third—36.6 per cent—of all inquiries they answer concerns insects.

Year around, the average number of insect questions asked of them averages about 17 per cent.

Imperial Hospital Decision Aug. 24

As high as 90 per cent of silks checked in some Republican Valley corn had eggs present. There is no practical control measure in field corn, he added.

Oil Starts Through Deshler Station

Oil can't wait, even for buildings. The new pumping station of the Platte Pipeline Co. being built near Deshler is well underway. But even before it can be finished, a new pump has been connected and is boosting oil from the Wyoming oil fields along its way to refineries in Illinois. Two resident houses are virtually completed. The pumping station and the control building, now under construction, are in the foreground. (Star Staff Photo.)

Improved Quality Help In Boosting Egg Income

Nebraska egg producers can increase their present returns from eggs by producing top quality eggs and selling them on a graded basis, according to Paul C. Clayton, extension marketing specialist.

At the present time there is a shortage of top quality eggs even with the surplus of "undergrades." This is reflected in the large spread between the price paid for "undergrades" or current receipts and top quality eggs, he said.

Last week's issue of Poultry and Egg Market News service reported producers were receiving from 12 cents a dozen for "undergrades" to 45 cents a dozen for AA-Large eggs. Of course, these are extremes, Clayton said. The 45 cents a dozen for AA-Large eggs is available only to producers in the North Platte-Lexington area in the western part of the State.

Many of the Nebraska producers now receiving 20 to 25 cents a dozen on the current receipt market could get 10 to 15 cents more a dozen by producing top quality eggs and selling on a graded basis, Clayton added. Although a graded or quality market is not available

The decision to call the special election was made at the July 26 meeting of the school board. The present school building is in need of repair.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.
